Round 1: 1:05-1:25
Station 1: Diabetic Before Birth?: Stress and Programming Metabolism
Prenatal Stress Contributes to Disordered Metabolism and Increased Risk for Type 2 Diabetes
Kristin Gosselink, Associate Dean, College of Science & Associate Professor, Biology

Station 2: Empowering Amputees and Preventing Joint Injuries
Biomechanics and Musculoskeletal Modeling
Jerome Hausselle, Research Assistant Professor, Mechanical Engineering

Station 3: NCBSI - Partnerships with the Homeland Security Enterprise
National Center for Border Security and Immigration - A DHS Center of Excellence
Victor Manjarrez, Associate Director, National Center for Border Security and Immigration (NCBSI)

Station 4: Moving back the frontiers at the interface between social/behavioral science and the law.
The Center for Law & Human Behavior
Harmon Hosch, Interim Director, Center for Law and Human Behavior (CLHB)

Station 5: Is your research sitting on a shelf? Need collaborators from other colleges? Is there untapped earnings potential?
Let CREIE help you make cross-college connections, protect your Intellectual Property, and help you earn revenue through license or commercialization.
Gary Williams, Director, Center for Research Entrepreneurship and Innovative Enterprises (CREIE)
Jeni Clark, Associate Director, Center for Research Entrepreneurship and Innovative Enterprises (CREIE)

Round 2: 1:30-1:50
Station 1: Older Adults, Health Care, and Money: Connecting the dots at Assisted Living Facilities and what we can do to help
Fall Prevention Strategies for older adults residing in Assisted Living Facilities
Katherine Lawson, Assistant Professor, Occupational Therapy

Station 2: Paper, are you just paper?
Graft DNA codes on paper for biosensing
XiuJun (James) Li, Assistant Professor, Chemistry

Station 3: Baby Steps: Learning to Collaborate Across Disciplines
Cyber-SHARE Center of Excellence
Aaron Velasco, PI, Cyber-SHARE Center of Excellence & Professor, Geology

Station 4: Mobility, mental health, and minorities: Commonalities and unresolved questions
Understanding the incidence of mental health illness in homeless and migrant populations
Ernesto Castaneda, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Station 5: The 21st Century Museum: Interdisciplinary arts, Cross-Cultural Conversations and Engaging Communities
The Stan Lee and Gerald Rubin Center for Visual Arts
Melissa Barba, Assistant Director; Stan Lee and Gerald Rubin Center for Visual Arts

Station 6: Healthy Habits: How to promote behavior change
Brief Motivational Interventions for Health Behavior
Craig Field, Associate Professor, Psychology

Round 3: 1:55-2:15
Station 1: Diabetic Before Birth?: Stress and Programming Metabolism
Prenatal Stress Contributes to Disordered Metabolism and Increased Risk for Type 2 Diabetes
Kristin Gosselink, Associate Dean, College of Science & Associate Professor, Biology

Station 2: Who you are matters in what you believe
Identity, Confliction, and Cooperation Working Group
Gaspare M. Genna, Associate Professor, Political Science
Michael Zarate, Professor, Psychology

Station 3: When Light Hits Cells: Physicists Meet Biologists
Using hybrid microscopic methods to study highly movable biological objects
Chunqiang Li, Assistant Professor, Physics

Station 4: Moving back the frontiers at the interface between social/behavioral science and the law.
The Center for Law & Human Behavior

Station 5: Contextualizing Math Education within Music-themed Activities
Research on Contextualizing K-12 Mathematics Education within the Real World Context of Musical Composition and Musical Instrument Design
Daniel Tillman, Director, Educational Technology Research Laboratory & Assistant Professor, Educational Technology

Round 4: 2:25-2:45
Station 1: NCBSI - Partnerships with the Homeland Security Enterprise

Station 2: Conventional and Sustainable Energy: Theory to Commercialization
Materials Research and Technology Institute (MRTI)
Russell Chianelli, Director, MRTI & Professor, Chemistry

Station 3: Older Adults, Health Care, and Money: Connecting the dots at Assisted Living Facilities and what we can do to help
Fall Prevention Strategies for older adults residing in Assisted Living Facilities
Katherine Lawson, Assistant Professor, Occupational Therapy

Station 4: Mobility, mental health, and minorities: Commonalities and unresolved questions
Understanding the incidence of mental health illness in homeless and migrant populations
Ernesto Castaneda, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Station 5: Connecting Expertise, Research, and Creative Activities at UTEP
I3: A Cyberinfrastructure and Communication-Based Model to Foster Innovation that Broadens Participation in STEM Fields through Institutional Integration
Patricia Esparza, I3 Cyberinfrastructure Development and Support Team

Round 5: 2:50-3:10
Station 1: Empowering Amputees and Preventing Joint Injuries
Biomechanics and Musculoskeletal Modeling

Using hybrid microscopic methods to study highly movable biological objects
Chunliang Li, Assistant Professor, Physics

Station 3: Boosting our collective "Health EQ": Health Equity Policy Advocacy Challenges & Opportunities
Health Equity Policy: Opportunities for Interdisciplinary Collaboration
Holly Mata, Postdoc Research Fellow, Hispanic Health Disparities Research Center

Station 4: How can UG Research Help UTEP Achieve Tier One?
Broadening & Sustaining UG Research Participation: Interdisciplinary Opportunities
Lourdes Echegoyen, Director, Campus Office of Undergraduate Research Initiatives

Station 5: Dust (and critters) In The Wind: Aeolian Dispersion of Invertebrates
Assessment of aridland aquatic biodiversity using second generation sequencing
Tom Gill, Associate Professor, Geological Sciences/Environmental Science and Engineering
Liz Walsh, Professor, Biological Sciences

Round 6: 3:15-3:35
Station 1: Our project/program works!? Evaluation and the implications for you, funders, and other researchers.
Research Evaluation and Assessment Services (REAS): Providing an objective analysis of progress and effectiveness
Guadalupe Corral, Manager, Office of Research and Sponsored Projects

Station 2: Who are matters in what you believe
Identity, Confliction, and Cooperation Working Group
Michael Zarate, Professor, Psychology

Station 3: An Interdisciplinary Perspective on Decision Making
Decision Making Research Group
Chris Kiekintveld, Assistant Professor, Computer Science

Station 4: Paper, are you just paper?
Graft DNA codes on paper for biosensing
Xiuliun (James) Li, Assistant Professor, Chemistry

Station 5: Is your research sitting on a shelf? Need collaborators from other colleges? Is there untapped earnings potential?
Let CREIE help you make cross-college connections, protect your Intellectual Property, and help you earn revenue through license or commercialization.
Gary Williams, Director, Center for Research Entrepreneurship and Innovative Enterprises (CREIE)
Jeni Clark, Associate Director, Center for Research Entrepreneurship and Innovative Enterprises (CREIE)

Station 6: Defending the system against cyber threats
Cyber and Energy Security for National Critical Sectors
Iriris Gallegos, Associate Research Scientist, Regional Cyber & Energy Security Center (RCES Center)

Round 7: 3:40-4:00
Station 1: Opt to Revise, Structure, and Persevere (ORSP)
Office of Research and Sponsored Projects: A Resource for You
Guadalupe Corral, Manager, Office of Research and Sponsored Projects

Station 2: Conventional and Sustainable Energy: Theory to Commercialization
Materials Research and Technology Institute (MRTI)
